

Maurice Downs of the Palm Springs Police Department did not have to leave the center of the village to make an ancient Indian find a splendid black obsidian knife, picked up near Palm Canyon Drive on the side street by the Desert Inn Garage. Black obsidian knives are not common for most of the stone knives were made of a banded gray-green chert. There is no black obsidian in this immediate vicinity; there is a small amount in the vicinity of Red Hill at the southern end of Salton Sea; there is obsidian in the Mohave Desert region. It is probably from the Mohave Desert that the material for this knife came.

The knife is four inches long, blunt jointed ends, flaked from either edge making two cutting edges but one of these is fairly straight and was probably the edge used for cutting. A stone knife may appear to be an inefficient tool but it is surprising what may be accomplished with it and other stone tools. An experiment was carried out in Denmark. A polished stone axe was fitted with a handle and given to a woodchopper who was able to cut down and cut into logs, twenty-six eight inch trees in one working day of ten hours. With stone tools it took him eighty-one days to build a log cabin.

Of great importance are the surroundings under which an Indian implement is found. It is the association with its surroundings that so often gives the clue as to its use, its age, and the Indians that made it. Last summer a ditch was dug across the street between the Desert Inn Garage and the Village Pharmacy. A few days after it was filled in Maurice Downs found the black obsidian knife on the ground. There the association trail is lost for it is impossible to tell from just what depth the knife came or if it was associated with any other evidence. If it had been found in place there might be more to write of the history of this stone knife.

Two papers have been published by the Southwest Museum that touch upon the Indian history of this region; "An Archeological Survey of the Twenty-nine Palms Region" by Mrs. Campbell of Twenty-nine Palms; "The Pinto Basin Site" by Mr. and Mrs. Campbell of Twenty-nine Palms. These papers tell of the results of the search into the Indian history of the Twenty-nine Palms region and the Pinto Basin area. If you are interested in Indian history a visit to the Southwest Museum in Los Angeles will bring you in contact with exhibits of the early Indian handicraft and Indian methods of gaining a living. There, also, is a very complete library covering Indian subjects.

The creosote bush ranks first in numbers and hardness; the burro-weed ranks second for it is an exceptionally hardy and abundant bush. Burro-weed, the common name, is derived from the fact that burros actually enjoy browsing on this shrub. Just chew a few of the leaves if you wish to learn something of the burro's cravings in food. A few burro-weed bushes and the burro is perfectly contented with the day's rations. Franseria dumosa is the scientific name; Franseria, the genus name, is in honor of Anthony Franser, an eighteenth century Spanish physician and botanist; dumosa, the species name, means a shrub, or like a shrub. The species name is not very distinctive when one realizes how many shrubs there are on the desert. Burro-bush seems a more fitting common name than burro-weed.

A person should know the burro-weed. I am unable to select a single identifying characteristic that places it apart, unmistakably, from all the other desert shrubs. However, it is low bush, two or three feet high, roundish in shape, and ashy-gray in color. The leaves are small, one-half inch or less in length and comparatively narrow; they give the appearance of being very close to the leaf branch; the color of the leaves give a more or less distinctive identifying appearance. If you would be more sure, chew a few of the leaves and the lingering bitter taste will be well remembered.

MANY AIRPLANES ARRIVE DURING THE PAST WEEK

Down to the desert in airplanes is the popular mode of travel to Palm Springs this season, with visitors arriving almost daily either in their private planes or via one of the transcontinental airliners which stop at Indio.

Recent El Mirador guests who brought their own planes were Mrs. Warrington Dor of San Francisco, Howard Hughes, Alfred Gwyn Vanderbilt, and Lasher B. Gallagher of Santa Monica and Los Angeles, who last week flew down, accompanied by his daughter and her dog. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Correll (Andy of Amos 'n' Andy) had their Stinson flown here from Chicago to take advantage of the ideal flying conditions at Palm Springs.

Many planes have come to the Palm Springs Airport from Los Angeles during the past few days. The pilots were D. Bell in a Tank, M. Reynolds in a Stinson, J. Pierce in a Waco, K. Brooks in a Stinson, Ted Brown in a Ryan S. T., C. S. Perkins in a Waco 10, E. Buck in an Emsco, B. Rhyne in a Monocoupe, U. S. Holmberg in a B.G.I., M. Frischman in a Lockheed Electra, E. T. Jolly in a Stinson, J. Farin in a Fairchild, H. Hawks in a Waco.

From other points there were R. C. Larsen of San Diego in a U. S. Navy ship, J. R. Todd of Pomona in a Kinner, A. F. Knight of San Diego in a Kinner, C. V. Smith of Fresno in a Stinson, D. E. Moran of Monrovia in a Travelair, W. H. Porter of the Wick-enburg Airport in a Waco, R. N. Pack of the Furnace Creek Inn flying a Fairchild, and W. Brockman of Calexico in a Fairchild.

Arriving in a chartered plane on Saturday morning was Jeanette MacDonald, lovely picture star.

Flying here on Saturday from Long Island, New York, was Earle Woodhams and a party of friends in his custom Waco.

From Medford, Oregon, came U. H. Fluhrer, lumberman, in his Fairchild. Dana Fuller of the "Flying Fullers," paint manufacturers, arrived

ASKS C. OF C. TO RECONSIDER LIQUOR ACTION

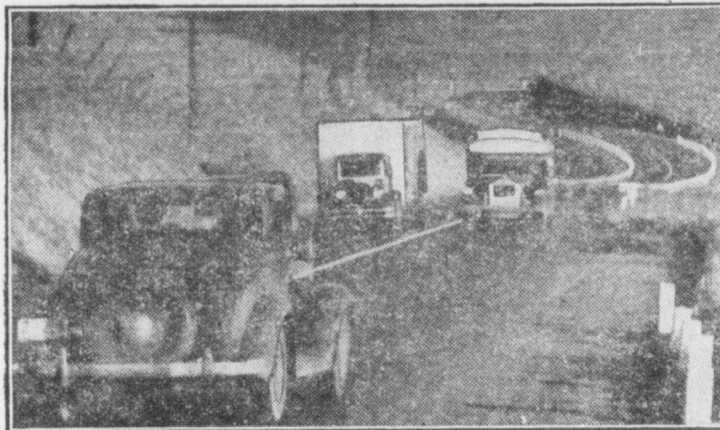

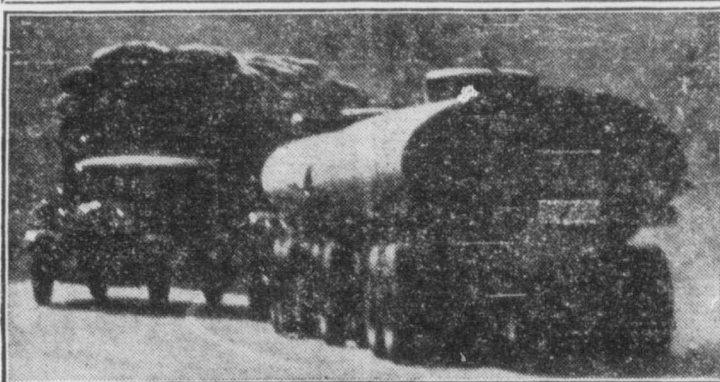

Luigi Gautiello, who recently constructed the two-story building just south of Thompson Motor Sales' General Petroleum Station, submitted a letter to the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday evening requesting the board reconsider its recent action when it opposed the granting of off-sale and on-sale liquor licenses to Gautiello and another man who proposed to lease part of the building for a liquor store.

Mr. Gautiello's son, Frank, attended Tuesday night's meeting, and stated that he and his father had decided to operate a grocery store in the building, and simply wanted an off-sale license to sell beer and wine, not to be consumed on the premises, but which would be sold in original packages.

When it received the original application, the State Board of Equalization had referred the matter to the local Chamber of Commerce and the school board, due to the fact that the building was only 150 feet from the school house, whereupon both boards objected to granting of the license. It is reported that Ray Edgar, member of the State Board of Equalization from this district, has consistently opposed granting of licenses to liquor establishments within 200 feet of school buildings.

Mr. Gautiello wrote to the Chamber that he had invested $30,000 in his property, with the intention of establishing a grocery store. After considerable discussion, it was resolved that the secretary obtain definite information as to the type of license desired and present it to the next meeting of the Board.

On A Sunday Afternoon

The Desert Sun will give a free ride, on a Sunday afternoon, from Whitewater to Redlands and back, to the person who writes the best title and editorial on the two pictures above. If you win the free ride on this highway, it may be your last, so you don't need to accept the reward.

TREASURE HUNT MONDAY; MANY VALUABLE PRIZES

Here's a game in which every adult of Palm Springs can participate—and it's lots of fun, whether you win or not. It's the big Treasure Hunt.

But, you have an excellent opportunity to win at least one prize, for there will be many valuable treasures.

A group of merchants are sponsoring Palm Springs' first "Treasure Hunt." They have placed some valuable prizes on display in their stores. Each prize bears a number. Likewise, each copy of this issue of The Desert Sun bears a number (from 1000 to 2600). Take your copy of The Desert Sun and start on your search for treasures.

On the two inside pages of this newspaper you will find the advertisements of the merchants who are sponsoring this event. Go to these stores next Monday, March 9, and compare the number on the upper right-hand corner of this newspaper with the numbers on the prizes. Whenever you find your number, the prize is yours. Take it away! That's all there is to it. The only rules are as follows:

1. The treasure hunt is open to all adults. Prizes will not be awarded to anyone under 18 years of age. Each adult is entitled to only one newspaper bearing a number. If he or she has more than one copy of the paper, the numbers on all will be declared void and no prize can be claimed.
2. All prizes must be claimed Monday, March 9. Those not claimed at the close of the business day will be withdrawn.
3. All numbers appear on large cards in plain view, attached to prize articles in participating stores. Nothing is hidden.
4. Each copy of The Desert Sun has a different number in the upper right-hand corner of the first page. If you have one of the prize numbers, no one else has it.
5. Members of The Desert Sun staff do not know what numbers have been placed on any of the prizes. All numbers are between 1000 and 2600.

YOUNG LADY IS SERIOUSLY HURT IN AUTO WRECK

Miss Grace Harris, waitress at the Village Coffee Shop, was seriously injured in an automobile wreck Tuesday evening three miles north of town. It is feared that she may have a broken back.

With Miss Harris, in a Ford coupe, was Miss Jessie LeClaire, who was painfully injured, but is now recovering rapidly. Miss Harris is in the Riverside hospital. The two young ladies were given first aid treatment by Drs. Henry S. Reid and Jack Hill.

The accident was the result of the car running off the shoulder of the highway and turning over in the sand. The car is a total wreck.

Mrs. C. D. Williamson entertained guests last Thursday at a musical tea at the manse.

BOYD TELLS WHAT C. OF C. HAS DONE HERE

Philip L. Boyd gave an interesting and very impromptu report on the functions of the Chamber of Commerce, and what the organization has accomplished, at the meeting Tuesday evening.

A new member wanted to know the purpose of the Chamber of Commerce and what it is doing for the community.

Mr. Boyd explained that due to the fact that Palm Springs is unincorporated, the Chamber takes the place of a City Council to a certain extent.

He said originally the organization took care of all community publicity, in addition to its other multitudinous duties, until the Palm Springs Association takes care of all publicity.

Is Hoover Coming to This Town?

There is an unconfirmed rumor that former President Herbert Hoover will be in Palm Springs within a few days to discuss national politics with other political leaders.

Melvin Eaton, chairman of the Republican State Central Committee of New York, arrived at El Mirador early this week. When asked by the Desert Sun if Mr. Hoover is coming here, Mr. Eaton said he had heard no such report, and that he, himself, is here only for his annual winter vacation.

William H. Crocker, prominent national figure in finance and politics, is a guest at the Desert Inn. It is said that Hoover and Crocker are friends.

DEDICATION OF NEW CHURCH ON SUNDAY, 15TH

Dedicatory services for the new Community Church will be held on Sunday, March 15th, at 3 p. m., with the sermon by Dr. Clarence Macartney, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. Dr. Macartney is one of the outstanding Presbyterian ministers of America and he is the pastor of one of the largest Presbyterian congregations in the country. He has held one of the highest church offices in the land, that of Moderator of the General Assembly. He is an excellent orator, and will bring a message of importance.

Special music for the occasion will be supplied by the All Saints Chorists of Riverside, a boys' choir of 40 voices, under the direction of Arthur Bostick. Mrs. Violet Fowler of Palm Springs will sing the offertory solo.

The laying of the corner stone will be at 11 o'clock in the morning on the same Sunday. Dr. R. C. Stone, prominent minister of the Riverside Presbyterian, who has been intimately associated with the Palm Springs church since its organization, will be the speaker. Special music will be under the direction of Mrs. Ellis S. Gottbe-huet, and there will be a duet by Mrs. Gottbe-huet and Mr. Vincent Savory.

Notwithstanding the handicap of not having a church since the old church building was sold and wrecked, and having to meet in the theatre which naturally wasn't generally known to newcomers in the village, attendance and membership in the church has been increasing steadily. Dr. C. D. Williamson, the pastor, who has been in charge the past two seasons, has had marked success with the young people of the community, and the young people's society is growing rapidly. The recent campaign for funds proved highly satisfactory, which proved the people of the community are delighted with the conduct of the church. Dr. Williamson has worked unceasingly to assist the building committee and other committees in accomplishing their objectives.

PREHISTORIC PICTOGRAPH BROUGHT TO PALM SPRINGS

A huge stone, weighing two tons, upon which are carved the writings of a race that has long disappeared, arrived in Palm Springs Tuesday and was set up in front of Indianola. It came from an isolated spot of the petrified forest in Arizona, where it had rested for centuries. Because it had fallen face down, the rock was not discovered until it was turned over by investigators. It is believed the pictograph is at least 1500 years old.

PROLONGS STAY

First it was for a few days, and then a week, and then another, and now once again Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lindeman are prolonging their stay at the Palm Springs Hotel, so entranced are they with the many delights of the village. Mr. Lindeman is associated with the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, one of Seattle's leading newspapers.

L. A. CHAMBER SELECTS MEN TO MAKE SURVEY

A committee of three, consisting of W. S. Rosecrans, Edwin G. Hart, and Dr. George P. Clements, all residents of Los Angeles and subdividers of large tracts, has been appointed to make a survey of the Indian reservation situation in Palm Springs. This information was announced at the Chamber of Commerce meeting Tuesday evening by Secretary Frank V. Shannon, and was contained in a letter from Arthur G. Arnoll, secretary and general manager of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Arnoll stated he had been asked by Commissioner John Collier of the Indian Department, in Washington, to appoint the committee. He stated the three men are familiar with conditions in this section, "Mr. Rosecrans having a fine place of his own a few miles south of Palm Springs; Dr. Clements has a place in San Andreas Canyon and has been familiar with the desert region for a great many years, and Mr. Hart is one of our leading subdividers, whose experience will be helpful in checking up on your necessities."

The appointment of the committee is the outgrowth of an attempt by Los Angeles and Hollywood investors to secure 99-year leases of parts of the local Indian reservation for subdivision purposes. It was said that the most attractive features for the proponents was that the land and improvements would be exempt from all state, county, district and city taxes and regulations. Property interests in Palm Springs opposed the leases stating that heavily taxed property and business establishments would suffer from tax-exempt similar institutions that would spring up on the east side of Indian Avenue.

A bill to enable the Indian Bureau to make such leases had been presented in the last session of Congress. It had passed the Senate and was in the House when Congress adjourned. The House bill had been presented by Congressman Sam Collins, who withdrew the bill when he learned of the strenuous Palm Springs objection.

Congressman Collins recently wrote Secretary Shannon that he had been advised by Commissioner John Collier, that the latter had asked Secretary Arnoll of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce to select a disinterested committee to study the situation on the local reservation regarding the leasing of Indian lands.

Secretary Shannon also reported Tuesday evening that for the past year negotiations have been underway to secure a permit from the Indian Bureau for the use of Section 18 as an airport. Letters have been sent to Commissioner John Collier and Secretary of the Interior Ives, giving the opinions of Brigadier General Arnold former commanding officer of March Field, and Robert Campbell, of the state airport division of the Department of Commerce, that this section would be a satisfactory airport site. Mr. Campbell has promised a large sum of money, sufficient to make it a first-class airport. Transcontinental airline officials have stated that the present airport is unsatisfactory because it is not large enough for a 3500-foot east-west runway. The north-south runway, however, is long enough. Section 18, out on Ramon Road, would answer the purpose.

Other matters considered by the Chamber Tuesday evening were the following:

Harold Brown submitted his resignation as director due to his inability to attend meetings regularly. The resignation was accepted, his successor to be selected at the general meeting on April 21.

The directors voted that all members be notified by card or letter of each general meeting and of any business of importance that would be discussed.

Applications of ten new members were accepted.

The marriage in Yuma, February 12, of Doris Gittelson, resident of Palm Springs for the past several seasons, and Milton J. Schwartz, head of the story department at the Fox Western avenue studios in Los Angeles, was announced this week.

MODEL DESERT HOME ATTRACTS MANY VISITORS

Keen interest is shown in the new Demonstration Desert Home, as evidenced by the number of visitors who daily visit this attractive house located west of El Mirador entrance, in Las Palmas Estates.

The home, which was built by Contractor Charles G. Chamberlin, has seven rooms and two baths, and is of the low, rambling type of desert architecture. Mr. Chamberlin has built many of the most attractive buildings in Palm Springs.

The color combinations in every room and the exterior are especially pleasing to the visitors. All of the painting was done under the personal supervision of Paul Schwenzfeier, specialist in color harmony.

One of the most modern and outstanding features is the "Coolaire" complete air conditioning system, comprising air-cooling, air-filtering, ventilating and automatic temperature control heating. Thus the occupants will always have their own choice of inside weather regardless of the temperature outside. Mark Lewis Gallert is the local representative for "Coolaire."

SCHOOL CHILDREN'S MEALS SUFFER AS HIDDEN TAXES DEplete FAMILY INCOME

Adequate lunches and suitable clothing for many school children of Los Angeles are at stake unless the rising tide of "hidden" or invisible taxation is curbed. J. Paul Elliott, chairman of the tenth district, Parent-Teacher Association Fathers' Council, recently told the tax counsellor of the California Consumers' Conference.

"One dollar out of every three earned by the average working man or woman is going toward taxes," Elliott said. "The grave danger lies in our citizenry not recognizing the hidden taxing agencies which are buried in the things we buy. I am somewhat fearful that, unless an educational program of some kind is instituted, our citizens will balk at all revenue raising measures when they awaken to the ever rising tide of taxation."

"Knowledge of the real taxation situation is lacking and, unless parents of growing boys and girls are thoroughly advised of present-day problems, they will be faced with a situation that is apt to strangle our American form of government."

"People are being hoodwinked daily into believing that unless they vote on certain measures they will affect revenues for schools. This is often erroneous, inasmuch as school expenditures have a first lien on the general fund of the state."

Educational work such as that being carried out by the California Consumers' Conference should prove a paramount importance to citizens who, in a broader acquaintance with tax problems, should strive to the utmost to strangle any additional tax measures being imposed upon the public, Elliott declared.

The fire department was called to the Santa Rosa tract yesterday forenoon, where a fire inside the wall of a residence threatened the building. However, the department quickly extinguished the blaze, and damage was slight.

SENDS RELIC OF ANCIENT DAYS TO CURATOR IN EAST

R. Bruce Cregar, proprietor of Palm Canyon Trading Post and Cregar's Indian Trading Post, has received acknowledgement of a gift from Dr. Cornelius Osgood, curator of Peabody Museum of Yale University. Through Charles C. Thomas, collector of Indian antiques, Mr. Cregar had sent an ancient ceremonial sacrificial knife, found in Aztec ruins, to Dr. Osgood. There is only one other knife in existence like it, which is in the museum at Mexico City. Small pieces of similar knives have been found in the Aztec ruins of Mexico, but only two complete knives have been uncovered.

Income Tax

FEDERAL AND CALIFORNIA 1936 INDIVIDUAL INCOME TAX REGULATION REVIEW

(By Milton Beck, Formerly Associated with Haskins & Sells, New York City)

Individuals required to file: Returns: Persons having a gross income of $5000.00 or over, or a net income of $1000.00 or over if you are single, or a net $2500.00 or more if you are married, must file income tax returns, although your return may show no tax due. The foregoing applies to both the Federal and California tax reports.

When due: The Federal return for calendar year is due on or before March 15, 1936. The California State Income Tax report is due on or before April 15, 1936.

Special note: Ordinarily if the combined net income for husband and wife is about $6500.00 or more, a tax saving will be effected on Federal return by filing separate returns for each individual.

Records to be kept. Retail receipts, cancelled checks, and all other papers which will help you to prove your expenses and other deductions. Also keep a correct record of all expenditures and other items deducted for tax purposes. The adjustment of all government tax disputes is essentially a practical matter. You must have adequate proof to substantiate your claim. Many taxpayers have been denied deductions merely because they could not prove their claims.

Deductions: Generally speaking, the tax law permits the deduction of all ordinary and necessary expenditures paid or incurred during taxable year, directly attributable to taxpayer's business, etc.

There are many exceptions to these simple rules. When you are in doubt—particularly if a large sum is involved—you should consult a tax adviser.

Mrs. Frank Mandel Hostess at "The Barn"

Mrs. Frank Mandel was hostess Tuesday evening at a buffet supper, served at "The Barn" night club, north of town, entertaining a group of friends in honor of her husband's birthday.

The party had cocktails at The Racquet Club early in the evening, and then enjoyed a hay-ride to The Barn. The guests were film celebrities and other socialites who are wintering in Palm Springs.

The guests included Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mandel, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Shields, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. Townsend Netcher (nee Constance Talmadge), Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lukas, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Butterworth, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Littleton, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Albertson, Mrs. Charles Farrell (Virginia Valli), and Misses Eleanor Tenant, Babbitt Black, and Babbitt Rothchild, and the guest of honor, Frank Mandel, who is the head of a large department store in Chicago.

After the supper the party enjoyed dancing to the tunes of Jimmy Robey's Orchestra.

Jean Harlow Has New Leading Man

SPENCER TRACY AND JEAN HARLOW

The sea, man's last unconquered frontier, is once more the background for the vital beauty of Jean Harlow.

With Spencer Tracy as her leading man, she appears in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Riffraff," which will play at the Palm Springs Theatre Wednesday and Thursday, March 11 and 12.

It is a story of the primitive emotions of men and women who go down to the sea in ships, wrestling an existence from the constant struggle with the deep.

It is the first time Miss Harlow and Tracy, two of the most vital stars of the screen, have appeared together in leading roles. Their teaming is considered a master-stroke of M-G-M showmanship.

Many scenes were filmed on the waterfront of Southern California. An entire village occupied by fishermen at San Pedro harbor was leased, and all its occupants were engaged as extra players.

Even more spectacular was the chartering by the studio of the entire tuna fishing fleet and all its masters and men. Many scenes were made about sixty miles off shore in the schools of the giant blue-fin tuna.

CONGRESSMAN McGROARTY EXPLAINS SOME ANGLES REGARDING 1936 POLITICS

A letter received by this newspaper from Hon. John Steven McGroarty, explains some misunderstood angles regarding national and state politics. Mr. McGroarty says:

"On February 17th, last, public announcement was made that an independent Democratic delegation to the National Democratic convention would appear on the Democratic primary ballot in California on May 5th.

"This announcement further stated that this delegation, if elected to the National Democratic Convention in Philadelphia, would be pledged to make every effort to incorporate the Townsend Plan, as embodied in the McGroarty Bill, H. R. 7154, into the Democratic platform for 1936.

"Under the California Primary Law it is necessary that a delegation be listed on the ballot for an individual and not an issue. In accordance with this provision of the law, the delegation drafted the use of my name and I agreed to head this slate. I did so feeling that no opportunity should be overlooked to further the adoption of the Townsend Plan.

"It is difficult for me to understand, in view of all this, why the newspapers throughout the country insist that I am a candidate for the office of President of the United States on a third party ticket.

"There is no danger that I shall be nominated for President by the Democratic party or any other party. Nor is there any danger of a third party with myself as its standard bearer. The placing of my name at the head of this delegation on the Democratic primary ballot is a movement strictly within the Democratic party and I can not understand how this can be construed to be a third party movement. Only registered Democrats will be permitted to vote for this delegation. If registered Republicans wish to support this ticket they must re-register as Democrats, which I hope they will do.

"The press is likewise attempting to tie in national officials of the Townsend movement for or against this delegation. The Townsend movement, as I have repeatedly stated, is non-partisan and I personally requested Mr. R. E. Clements, co-founder and secretary, not to take any official action in what is purely a matter within the Democratic party. I did not want the Townsend movement to be accused of being anti-Roosevelt, nor do I wish to be so accused myself. Both this independent Democratic delegation and myself are merely taking what we believe is a proper action in the interest of the Townsend Plan.

"As to the likelihood of this action which we are taking in California repeating itself in other states, this is a matter that can only be decided by Democrats in such other states who are favorable to the Townsend Plan. Possibly their state laws would not permit it.

"The press is further confusing the issue with the statement that the use of my name as a Presidential candidate will preclude me from being a candidate for Congress for another term. This is a different matter entirely. The Presidential primary on May 5 is solely for the purpose of selecting the delegates to the national convention. The ballot upon which Congressional candidates will appear will be presented to the voters on August 25th. Whether I return to Congress or not is a matter for the voters of the 11th Congressional district in California alone to decide. It is the business of the voters to select men for office and not the business of office seekers to select themselves. If the people want me, I am willing to serve. There is no hope for progress or reform unless the people take politics in their own hands.

"I trust that this frank statement from me will clear the situation and put an end to all doubts and contentions."

JOHN PHILLIPS ON "LIBERTY"

Assemblyman John P. Phillips was the speaker of the evening at a meeting of newspaper publishers and their wives of Riverside and San Bernardino counties, at the California Hotel in San Bernardino, Saturday evening. About 40 were seated at the banquet table, Palm Springs being represented by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Barkow.

Mr. Phillips made a stirring address, his subject being, "Life, Liberty, and the Pursuit of Happiness."

"What would you select as the greatest words in the English language?" asked the speaker. "Love? Life? Home? Wife? Child? Success? Religion?"

"Love? Men and women have given up Love for Liberty."

"Life? Men and women have willingly given up their lives for Liberty."

"Home? Men have left their Homes that a Nation might be created that would give Liberty to their children, and their children's children."

"Wife? Wives have willingly and bravely seen their husbands leave to gain or to protect that one word, 'Liberty.'"

"Success? Where is Success possible in a land that has no Liberty, or among a people who do not know the meaning of that word?"

"Religion? Men have died that they connect the two words, 'Religion' and 'Liberty.'"

Then Mr. Phillips pointed out that no one is entitled to Liberty without responsibility. He called attention to the type of Liberty (without responsibility) advocated by Communists and other radicals—Liberty in which the one who advocates accepts no responsibility.

He produced a large pile of newspapers from Soviet Russia, Germany, and Italy, and showed the kind of 'Liberty of the Press,' 'Freedom of Speech,' 'Freedom of Religion,' etc., in effect in those countries, as compared to the Liberty guaranteed America by the forefathers and which the press of the nation strives to maintain.

IDYLLWILD ROUTE DISPUTE IS REAL TORRID TOPIC

The Banning-Idyllwild road continues to be a major topic of conversation at meetings of the county board of supervisors. At Monday's meeting Supervisors Dillon and Talbot engaged in verbal clashes concerning the routing of the road. In the meantime progress is slow, and may be nil, and the public is quite thoroughly aroused over the way the project is being handled.

Some weeks ago Supervisor Talbot moved for a modified survey on a section of the new road. In this move he was opposed by Supervisor Dillon and County Surveyor A. C. Fulmor, on the ground that the proposed new and cheaper survey would not be of a standard to secure federal aid.

The question came up again last Monday and County Surveyor A. C. Fulmor was instructed by the board of supervisors to discontinue work on a modified survey ordered some weeks ago of the section of the Banning-Idyllwild road between Pine Cove and the old sawmill site farther north.

Supervisor A. C. Talbot of the fifth district, who has been the mover for re-routing the original survey between these two points, recommending that the old road be followed in order to avoid rock formation and to save standing timber, seconded the motion, made by Supervisor Robert E. Dillon of the fourth district.

Any knowledge of reports of a rumor that steps were being considered to circulate a referendum petition concerning the project, on the ground that the board has shown itself incompetent to handle it, was denied by Mr. Talbot.

Supervisor Dillon's effort to have the original survey of the new Banning-Idyllwild road route approved, failed when it was put to a vote. Supervisor Talbot voted no. Chairman J. E. McGregor refrained from voting and Supervisor W. C. Moore was absent. Affirmative votes were cast by Supervisors Dillon and R. W. Stanfield.

The road question came before the board when Dist. Atty. Earl Redwine suggested that before his office begins action in condemnation on a half dozen pieces of property for rights of way at the Banning end of the road, the board determine definitely whether there will be any change in the route. It would be inadvisable to cloud the title to the property, he said, unless the board intends to make use of it.

When informed work has already been done by CCC workers on some of the route for which no steps had been taken to condemn property or for which rights of way had been procured, the district attorney stated that the county has had some unfortunate experience along this line, and advised against entering upon lands against which no procedure in condemnation has been commenced.

Supervisor Talbot urged that proceedings, although already authorized, be deferred until the entire board is present.

Supervisor Dillon contended that the survey has in effect been adopted by the approval of a warrant for $1000 drawn on the fourth road district funds for rights-of-way.

"I can't see any reason for spending more money on this road when we haven't got it to spend," said Supervisor Talbot. "I am opposed to going ahead with the project."

Asked regarding the proposed modification of the original survey, Surveyor Fulmor stated that little progress has been made on account of storm conditions. He reiterated his opinion that the original survey afforded the most economical route to build. Any turns with a radius of less than 150 feet would not meet the standards of the Bureau of Public Roads nor the forest service, he said, and hence no funds could be expected from the forestry department for a low-standard road.

Supervisor Talbot expressed the opinion that since the forest service does not intend to put any money into the road anyway, a lower standard road should be built. He said there is no use spending money on a high-class road when no one will use it.

This brought the retort from Supervisor Dillon that the fifth district supervisor is "afraid some one will use it," and mentioned the names of some Hemet interests he understood were backing the move fostered by the supervisor. The latter maintained, however, that he was carrying on the battle alone.

Supervisor Dillon said he objected to aspersions being cast on the county surveyor by Supervisor Talbot's attitude. Chairman McGregor interposed at this point, and suggested that if the two supervisors were going to quarrel the issue they had best go elsewhere.

McDonald Brothers, who have been operating McDonald's Stables near the Airport for the past five or six years, have bought Cliff's Stables southeast of the village. Cliff Frager has operated the latter stables for the past five years.

Ira Nelson Morris, prominent winter resident, with his guests and his secretary, has been commuting back and forth to Los Angeles by air, using the facilities of the Palm Springs Airport. Mr. Morris, former ambassador to Sweden, is occupying the Edmund Goulding home here.

Judge G. M. Gannon of Los Angeles, whose attractive home in Tahquitz Desert Estates was sold recently through the offices of Raymond Cree, has purchased other property in the same tract through this realtor. He has purchased a scenic lot and this week added a twenty foot strip adjoining and will soon have construction started on a new home. Mrs. Jay Hornel entertained a group of eleven guests at a dinner party Sunday night.

BEWARE OF BLACK WIDOWS; SPRING HERE

Now that Spring is either here, or just loitering around the corner, it will be well to guard against black widow spiders, a type of insect with a deadly sting.

Science laid bare the private life of the black widow spider, revealing her as a romantic, impetuous but home-loving creature for which the male of the species is always risking his neck.

Twenty-five years of eavesdropping on the lady by University of California entomologists resulted in the publication of a bulletin picturing her as a glamorous bundle of sure death to her men folk. But her bite was found to be fatal to human beings only about once in 100 times.

She was found to have many of the attributes of the dangerous female of tradition.

She doesn't care much for outdoor life. She likes the comforts of civilization. She will quickly desert her natural habitat in wood or field for the corner of a building. She prefers dark, dry, warm places.

The males and females never see each other except during the mating season, said Prof. W. B. Herms, entomologist and author of the university bulletin.

At mating time the male singles out a female's web and approaches with great caution.

He jiggles the web. If he lives through that he picks on a thread of her web and plays a sort of tune to serenade her. If she is pleased she does a little dance which jiggles the web again and indicates to the male that he is safe, for the time being at least. Then she comes out to meet him.

At one stage he spins a small web about her. She is strong enough to break it at any time, but she submits. It is her way of saying, "My, how strong you are!"

From then on the male is living on borrowed time.

More often than not he carries too long and is slain for his lack of discretion.

Madam Widow lays anywhere from 25 to 900 eggs in a butter-colored sac which she binds in her web and may repeat this process as many as nine times in a season.

During the hatching period, which requires only a few days, she is most dangerous to human beings. She will bite anything in defense of her home. The baby spiders remain in the sac anywhere from four to 30 days after hatching, depending on the weather. During this interim they have no choice but to live off each other. Only the strongest survive. The longer the period of emergence the fewer the spiders.

Professor Herms said the best preventive measure is to destroy all webs, spiders and sacs by crushing them and to spray the dark corners with creosote.

The black widow's venom is a neurotoxin, or nerve poisoner, rather than a blood poisoner, and for this reason ordinary first-aid methods to check the spread of infection are of little avail.

Professor Herms advised painting the bite wound with iodine and calling for the doctor as soon as possible.

Boyd Tells What C.
of C. Has Done Here

It has taken care of people in the community who are in need.

The Chamber looked after public safety, and was instrumental in forming the Police Protection District, the governing board of the latter now having charge of all safety matters.

The Chamber of Commerce had the responsibility of fire protection, and formed the Fire Protection District.
The commissioners of the district now are in charge of that work. The excellent fire-fighting equipment was purchased through the efforts of the Chamber of Commerce.

Then there was the matter of sanitation, which the Chamber has closely watched. The Chamber instituted the movement for a sanitary board and a sanitary district, and first proposed the sewer system which is now under construction.

It developed the airport, and still has charge of this phase.

It carries the problems of the Village to the County Board of Supervisors, and Secretary Frank Shannon is a regular attendant at the supervisors' meetings every Monday.

Through its Village Improvement Committee it named the streets, put up street signs, planted trees, and took care of the streets.

It has maintained the sign at the junction of the Palm Springs road and U. S. Highway 9.

The Chamber had the stables segregated and placed out on the Indian reservation away from the village.

It has provided a public dumping ground, used its influence in keeping the town clean, and in many other ways looked after the community's interests.

Mr. Boyd said these were only a few of the things that occurred to him at the moment. The fact is, the organization's minutes will show of very many other things of vital importance to the community that have been taken care of by the Chamber of Commerce.

Economic Highlights

Before the present Congress convened, a great many commentators forecast that a knock-down-and-drag-out session was in prospect, that titanic legislative battles loomed, that almost every day would bring new headlines from Capitol Hill—that, in brief, there would be excitement, color, drama.

These commentators were not 100 per cent wrong, but they were close to it. The present Congress has been quiet and almost entirely without lustre, so far as the outside observer can see. Little acrimony has appeared. And debate over important measures has been a long way from brilliant.

There are, of course, reasons for this—political reasons. Those who know say that Mr. Roosevelt, with his tremendous House and Senate majorities, doesn't want any more hornets' nests stirred up before election than he can help. As a result, Congressional leaders are doing their real talking behind closed doors in the committee rooms. There they are bargaining and horse-trading. By the time important bills reach the floor, everything is cut and dried. Roll calls produce a flood of "Ayes" with a scattering of "Nays," and that's that.

Why do the Republicans permit this? For the same reason as the Democrats—politics. Republican strategists seem to be just as sure as Democratic strategists that peace and quiet is in their best interest. They prefer to do their talking on the stump. And they too are motivated by the dread fear of alienating votes that might pave the way to a Republican win in November.

The new farm bill which, so far as anyone could see, went through Congress with very few ripples to mar its serene passage, provides a fine example of the conditions described above. In the words of Time, "Pressed by sprouting cotton seed and impatient farm leaders, Senators had no more time to consider than they had in 1933. Pressed by the political necessity of adopting a bill that would result in liberal distributions of cash before election day, they had little latitude. The outcome of virtually every roll call could have been predicted on the basis of political expediency."

The bill, as passed, is a curious mixture, including as it does a plan for a temporary stop-gap, and another plan for a permanent farm program. The stop-gap is based on the Soil Conservation Act of 1935, an obscure and, at the time of its passage, a seemingly unimportant bill. The act gives the Secretary of Agriculture power to prevent soil erosion. The new farm bill is an amendment to this act, whereby the secretary is authorized to spend $500,000,000 a year to pay farmers not only for preventing erosion, but for promoting soil fertility. Thus, the secretary can pay a farmer for taking his acres out of cotton, wheat or other cash crops, and putting them into non-cash crops, such as clover.
With this power, the secretary obviously has just about as much influence in controlling crops and production as he did under the dead AAA.

However, many authorities, some within the Democratic party, feel that the amendment might be given the same treatment by the Supreme Court as the AAA. Therefore the new bill permits the secretary to provide money and other aid for setting up crop control agencies in the 48 states.
State legislatures would pass laws giving these agencies powers the secretary deems sufficient to carry out the major purposes of the Act—and "little AAA's" would be established.
States refusing to fall in line would get no benefits after two years. Proponents of the bill believe this fixes up the constitutionality angle of the plan, in that, technically speaking at least, crop control would be engineered by the states and not by the federal government, and so would not run into the objections laid down by the Supreme Court in the AAA test case.

No means has yet been established for raising the required $500,000,000 and a new bill must be passed for that. There is strong sentiment in Congress to raise at least part of the money through new corporation taxes.

Advocates of world peace shuddered a fortnight ago when the House of Representatives voted for the largest peace-time army appropriations in our history. Ominous reason for the super-budget was expressed by Chief of Army Staff Craig, who said, "It is perfectly evident to everyone that troublesome times have again arrived in the world. . . . We do not see how they can possibly concern us. Nevertheless, it is unwise to neglect the lessons of our experience."

GOVERNOR PROCLAIMS CONSERVATION WEEK MARCH 7 TO 14

Governor Frank F. Merriam has proclaimed the period March 7 to 14 as California Conservation Week, and has requested all interested organizations, agencies, groups and individuals, and particularly the public schools of the state to recognize and encourage this observance. The chief purpose of the week is to promote a year-round educational program for the conservation of the state's natural resources, and to arouse public interest in fire prevention, tree planting, water and soil conservation and roadside beautification.

Governor Merriam's proclamation said in part: "We have within our state a wider variety of natural resources than are found in any other area of equal size in our country. Our beautiful forests and other native flora, our wild life, streams, lakes and seashore constitute the greatest pride of the commonwealth. Their preservation bears definitely upon the future welfare of the state. We must be vigilant in the prevention of forest fires, soil erosion and the depletion of water resources. Public opinion must be mobilized in order to secure greater observance of conservation laws."

The Conservation Week program outlined by the California Conservation Council with Miss Pearl Chase of Santa Barbara as chairman of the week, will include the following activities:

March 7, California Arbor Day and Luther Burbank's birthday; March 8, importance of conservation of natural resources; March 9, forestry, public schools arbor day; March 10, conservation of wild life, birds, fish and game; March 11, preservation of native plants, trees, shrubs and wildflowers; March 12, water and soil conservation, fire prevention; March 13, improvement of roadsides and recreation areas; March 14, coordination of conservation activities of state and counties.

Organizations cooperating in the observance of Conservation Week are: All public schools, U. S. Forest Service, U. S. Soil Conservation Service, National Park Service, State Divisions of Forestry, Parks, Highways, Fish and Game, State Chamber of Commerce, Native Sons and Daughters of the Golden West, Save-the-Redwoods League, California Roadside Council, Land Planning Division of the Resettlement Administration, Sierra Club, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, Parent Teacher's Association, California Extension Service, Izaak Walton League, American Legion, California Federation of Women's Clubs, Los Angeles County Conservation Association and many chambers of commerce, garden clubs, fraternal and service organizations interested in conservation.

TWO SENTENCED TO ROAD CAMP IN JUSTICE COURT

Bert Lustig of Los Angeles was sentenced to serve 90 days in the road camp, following his arrest by Motor Patrol Officer Chas. Gandy, March 1, on a charge of driving while intoxicated on Highway 99, near Banning. Judge J. J. Fredericks pronounced the sentence.

Arthur Lee Penny of Bakersfield was sentenced to serve 30 days in the county jail, following his arrest in Palm Springs by Police Chief C. W. Seaton on a charge of being drunk on the public streets. Mr. Penny appeared Monday morning in Judge Fredericks' court.

SENATOR BORAH FED UP ON DEATH RUMOR PHONE CALLS

Senator Borah wants to receive no more telephone calls asking if he is dead.

A rumor that he had died spread through the capital Tuesday night. Anxious people began telephoning to him.

At first Borah treated it as a bit of fun. But when the telephone calls continued, he began to be wrathful. He promised dire things for the person who started the rumor.

Austin Ayer, Palm Springs building contractor, is completing a cottage and a garage in Cathedral City for use of bus drivers. The cottage is of the auto camp type, fourteen by eighteen feet, with composition shingle roof and stucco walls. The garage is large enough to house the two buses and is constructed of galvanized iron. Messrs. Roy Bosley and Aubrey Shideler will be quartered there by the end of the week.

29 PALMS ROAD IS SCHEDULED TO BE SURFACED

A very acceptable improvement in roads in this locality will be the surfacing of the Whitewater-29 Palms highway. This improvement has been announced as an early development by the California Highway Commission. Oil-mix will be applied from Whitewater to the San Bernardino county line. Beyond that point San Bernardino county has already surfaced its share of the road.

The improvement revives the demand for a good road from 29 Palms to Amboy. This would be a short cut for travelers en route to Southern California. There would be a substantial saving over the distance required to traverse the Old Trails route.

MARBLE GAMES MAY BE PROHIBITED BY EQUALIZATION BOARD

The ball games, which have given some city officials so much worry, may be removed from all places where liquor is sold.

This seemed likely when Don Marshall, liquor enforcement officer in the San Francisco district, ordered the games removed in his district.

Should Marshall's edict be supported by the State Board of Equalization, which controls the enforcement of liquor laws and the regulation of the traffic in California, it is probable that the order would be state-wide in effect.

POPPY SHOW TO BE FINE AFFAIR

Golden poppies, California state flower, are blooming in sheltered locations in the San Geronio Pass. It is believed the "show" during March will be the most gorgeous in years, in this locality.

One of the best poppy locations is on Banning Heights and westerly thereof. During some seasons the landscape is literally a mass of yellow, as pure as real gold.

PHONE COMPANY REVENUE GAINS, SAYS FISHER

An all-time high in revenue from long-distance calls was achieved by the Southwestern Home Telephone Company during the month from January 21 to February 20, Manager E. R. Fisher said at Redlands.

The local telephone company now has 6,000 subscribers, which is more than at any time since 1932.

Toll calls during the high period this year brought an income of $22,665, while the revenue for that period last week was $17,300. A previous high was established in 1931, when the total was $16,300.

"Of course, the activity at Palm Springs is largely responsible for this record," Fisher explained. "And the business of the Metropolitan Water district is not to be overlooked."

To handle the large long-distance business at the desert resort, a large lobby, with many telephone booths, was included in the new building which the company constructed last summer. Five operators and an office supervisor are now employed there. A large crew which devotes most of its time to installations of telephone equipment is kept at Palm Springs.

THE GOOD INTENTIONS OF INSURANCE PLAN QUESTIONED

Charges that the Federal-State unemployment insurance and retirement fund plan to which thousands of persons are contributing weekly in California, has several "political jokers" written into it and is impractical, were made by Herbert Dawes, Southern Sierras Power Company official, speaking to the Riverside County Bar Association at Riverside.

Dawes said the method of collecting and paying benefits are socialistic in nature; that the federal government can borrow money paid into the fund by employees and employers can give as security government bonds which must be retired by taxation, and charged that benefits obtainable from the government plan are below those available from similar payments under annuity plans of private insurance companies.

Jack Freeman, who was local representative for the International Provision Company until a month ago, when he was transferred to the San Francisco territory, has returned to Palm Springs, and is again in charge locally.

Cal Pierce has gone to San Francisco to meet his brother, Al, head of a famous radio team, who broad casts a daily program for the Pepsodent Company.

WHIPPLE MOUNTAIN CONCRETING TO START

Preparations for the launching of concreting operations in the 32,238-foot Whipple Mountain tunnel on the Colorado River aqueduct were being made last week by crews of the Walsh Construction Company. Trimming has been carried to the east portal, and the outfit moved back to the adit, where 6,200 feet of tunnel eastward to the airshaft remains to be trimmed.

Graham Brothers, aggregate subcontractors, have started the installation of a screening, crushing and batching plant at Whipple Wash, a mile west of the adit. The adit track has been extended to this site.

Meanwhile, at Walsh's 5482-foot Colorado River tunnel, dismantling of the plant and buildings has been started for the purpose of making a final cleanup on Schedule 1. District forces are extending water and power lines through the tunnel for service to the contractor at the Intake Pumping plant.

ECHO OF DESERT CRASH IN COURT

Witnesses at Riverside this week furnished details of a serious automobile collision near Whitewater on March 6, 1934, as the trial of the $32,000 damage action of Benjamin Tarshish vs. the Western Wholesale Liquor company and others opened before Superior Judge Roy D. McPherrin of Imperial county. The outside jurist is presiding on designation of the California judicial council.

Attorney Harry I. Miller, counsel for the plaintiff, called as the first witnesses Doyle Jessup, California Highway Patrol officer, William F. Transue, one of the defendants, Edwin Russell and Harry Emmons.

Here's Luck

FOR SOME ONE . . . MAYBE YOU!
Or a friend are looking for just such an opportunity as this. It's not a gamble, but a sure income, and steady too.

You can't go wrong on this bargain.

This ad will mean a tidy fortune to someone who can invest the very small sum of $3,000.00. And say, you'll be convinced; so don't hesitate to come out and see the ARCH CAFE and COURT of nine cabins at Cathedral City, the fast growing suburb just five miles south of Palm Springs.

WHY? Because $400.00 a month NET! which is over 50 percent (not 8 percent or 10 percent, or even 25 percent or 30 percent) but 50 percent! on this low price of only $8,500.00 — FULLY EQUIPPED, TOO! Isn't that SOME return? 50 percent net, and clear?

All right, then get out here and see this sweet little business which is a pleasure to run, which caters to the best class of trade (the local residents of Palm Springs plus the natural overflow tourist trade who drive out here for the lovely ride and just to be going somewhere). I'm NOT a good cafe man, so am glad I'm suddenly called to take back my old job in Beverly Hills; otherwise it would not be for sale at twice the price, as this price is just what it has cost me and couldn't be rebuilt under $10,000.00.

P. S.—You do NOT have to be EXPERIENCED in the cafe business (I'm NOT), because the help does all the work, and run it very efficiently. (Though it's easy to learn.) Fact is, this business runs itself. Furthermore, it will pay for itself entirely in three years or even less, and you'll own a $10,000 property, without one cent out of your pocket.

STATE POLICE ADVOCATED BY JOHN GABBERT

ANNUAL CRIME IN AMERICA

A murder every 37 minutes.
13,500 murdered last year.
500,000 homes burglarized.
125,000 robberies.
3,000 kidnappings.
Crime cost $20,000,000,000 a year.
400,000 persons live off proceeds of crime.

Government would save money if every criminal were given a pension of $20,000 a year for life.
40,000 felonies in California last year.

1,300,000 felonies in the nation.
Costs taxpayers $84.00 to make a felony arrest.

Chances of murderer being arrested, 11 to 1.
Chances that murderer will ever be tried, 174 to 1.

That murderer will ever be convicted, 212 to 1.

2 to 1, that if convicted, will not serve over 5 years in prison.

125,000 known murderers are walking the streets of this country, free men.

Costs $10,000,000 per year in California to control crime.

These are some of the startling facts presented to the Banning Kiwanis Club Friday noon by Deputy District Attorney John Gabbert, member of the California Commission of State Police and a member of the Bureau of Legislative Drafting for the purpose of drafting a bill for state police.

"At the outset of my remarks let me make one thing perfectly clear. I am not going to make a partisan talk, nor am I going to urge in any official capacity the adoption of a state police force. I want you to understand that a state police force would not change one iota your local police situation any more than it would change it in any town which has its own police system. Further, than expressing my personal beliefs, reached after some study of this question, to the end that you may be interested in this problem, I have no axe to grind," said Attorney Gabbert.

"In view of the present absolute necessity of reducing governmental costs, and the necessity to curb the advancing crime wave, it is a question whether the type of law enforcement we now have is the least expensive and most efficient," said the young attorney.

He said there are 800 separate police systems in California; 47 chiefs of police in Los Angeles county alone, and 58 county departments in the state. There is costly overlapping of efforts, and not the co-ordination there could be in a state police force.

"We have organized crime, pitted against disorganized law," said Mr. Gabbert. "Robbers, bandits and gangsters work with the precision of drill teams, while in law enforcement there is duplication, overlapping, and working at cross purposes. Our sheriff's and city police departments may be efficient enough, but they have little jurisdiction outside their counties or cities."

He cited many cases of efficiency on the part of state police in large eastern states, where local officers had failed. "In the seventh police district of Michigan, embracing the northern 22 counties, there were a dozen bank robberies and payroll holdups in the past ten years. In 11 of the 12 cases the state police succeeded in capturing the criminals, all of whom are now serving life sentences," he said.

"Contrast that with another mid-western state where there were 51 bank and payroll holdups in 15 months preceding last September. Insurance companies in that state paid out on bank burglary policies more than twice as much as they received in premiums. To try and keep policy rates down, the state bank commissioner laid down the rule that banks must at all times limit cash on hand to one per cent of total deposits."

He said that statistics show more than one-half the crimes in rural communities are committed by crooks from the cities, disproving the contention of anti-state-police advocates that state police would not be as familiar with the country or its people as local officers. He also said that state police could be college-trained men, efficient in every branch of crime detection, and would be required to pass strenuous examinations. They should come under civil service regulations, he said, and the department could thus be kept out of politics. Records of other states having state police show that not even the heads of the state police force were changed with the change of state political offices.

ASK LOCAL BUSINESS FIRMS TO SUPPLY CENSUS INFORMATION

William J. Brand, supervisor of the Census of Business, today announced that an effort is being made to finish the canvass in Riverside county and environs within the next few days. He asked that all business firms cooperate by furnishing the necessary census information as quickly as possible.

"We realize that some firms require more time than other in assembling the information," Mr. Brand said, "but it is imperative that the reports be sent to Philadelphia without delay so that the statistics can be compiled and issued by July."

"The timeliness of such statistics," he added, "greatly enhances their value. More than 5,000,000 reports must be handled by the Bureau, and delay in filling out these reports delays the statistics for the entire state."

"The inquiries have been made as simple as possible," he continued, "to make the task of supplying the information easy, and have been shaped to secure facts that will be of maximum value to business."

Mr. Brand declared that the census now being taken is a continuation of the regular Business Census work of the Bureau of the Census, and is for business use, not for governmental purposes. Its scope is the result of all branches of business.

He reiterated previous assurances that all enumerators and other persons connected with the census are under oath not to disclose or discuss any information submitted for census purposes, and that under the census law no access to individual reports is permitted, not even to other governmental, state or local agencies, and no information will be disclosed which would in any way reveal the facts or figures given in the returns.

"The Census Bureau expects," he said, "to publish the results for this state by July 1st unless there is delay in obtaining the relatively few reports still out. Since the first few states released receive nation-wide publicity, and comparisons with the previous census will show such a healthy increase in business, we want nothing to delay the canvass here."

One state police force has gone through four changes of administration without change in the police personnel or its heads.

Mr. Gabbert quoted J. Edgar Hoover and foremost criminologists, who stated that crime is moving westward, and that the worst type of criminals are not so prevalent in a state where there is an efficient state police force. "I believe you will agree that it doesn't seem possible that men would commit all of the crimes they do commit if they were convinced that their flagrant and coldblooded violations of the law would be detected and the perpetrators brought to justice," he concluded.

Attorney Frederic Wing was chairman of the day, and introduced the speaker.

A most enjoyable feature of the program was the accordion music by Howard Cutler, son of Kiwanian T. J. Cutler. Howard plays just about everything anyone might suggest, and he plays it well. He is in great demand by cafes, clubs and organizations to supply music for special occasions.

PALM SPRINGS Eight Years Ago

(From the Files of The Desert Sun, March 2, 1928)

Prominent guests at the Desert Inn are Charles R. Crane, former U. S. Ambassador to China; J. E. Pennybacker, manager for the Standard Oil Company of Yokohama; W. S. Finley, Jr., president of the West Penn Power Company; Dr. Henry Hoagland of Pasadena, who had charge of respiratory examinations for the U. S. Army during the war; and W. F. Turner, president of the Spokane-Portland-Seattle Railroad.

Distinguished visitors from various parts of America held an interesting meeting in the Desert Inn Monday evening and discussed proposed presidential candidates. Among those present were Adolph Ochs, editor and owner of the New York Times; Harry Chandler, editor of the Los Angeles Times; Eugene McAneny, president of the corporation owning the chain of Ritz-Carlton Hotels; and Charles R. Crane, ex-ambassador to China.

The beautiful new home of Mr. and Mrs. Austin G. McManus rising on the hillside overlooking the village is now nearing completion.

More than 200 guests were seated at the tables at the Desert Inn Tuesday noon for the County Chamber of Commerce monthly luncheon. Dr. J. J. Kocher, president of the Palm Springs Chamber, made a brief talk, and introduced Attorney Frank L. Miller of Banning, president of the county organization.

Los Angeles newspapers are giving considerable publicity to the proposed Pinon Pines road (this road is now completed and is known as the Palms-to-Pines road).

The beautiful story of the life and death of Carl Eytel, internationally known poet, and William Maloney, famous former guard of Palm Canyon was told over radio station KFWB, by reading a poem about the two men written for The Desert Sun by Robert L. Edwards. Both men lived and died in Palm Springs.

W. C. GUNN SPENDS THREE MONTHS IN HOSPITAL AFTER SERIOUS INJURY IN CRASH

W. C. Gunn, proprietor of the Canyon Drive-In-Market, has been released from the Ramona Hospital in San Bernardino, where he spent 88 days, as the result of a serious injury from an automobile accident on November 20th.

Mr. Gunn was standing in back of his parked car off the highway near the Southern Pacific Railway station, when a motorist failed to make the turn, ran off the highway, and crashed into Mr. Gunn's car, crushing the man between the two cars. His leg was badly crushed, and he will have to use crutches for some time to come.

FAMOUS SCREEN SINGER RESTS AT REID HOSPITAL

Jeanette MacDonald, lovely soprano singer of the screen and radio, spent a few days last week at the Reid Hospital and Clinic, to rest after working hard on a screen production. Her mother came for her Monday so that Miss MacDonald could resume her work on a new picture now being produced under the direction of Van Dyke. Miss MacDonald's latest picture, "Rose Marie," which was in Palm Springs recently, is one of the biggest hits of the season.

THE AQUEDUCT AS SEEN FROM THE AIR

The Los Angeles aqueduct is an interesting picture from the air. It is now possible to follow the entire route from Coachella northeastward to Parker. It looks as if nature placed every possible obstacle in the way of the engineers who sought a gravity route for their big canal. The aqueduct appears to be twisting and turning around over the desert in quest for every available mountain range and peak in that territory. There are 90 miles of tunnel along the way. But evidently that was necessary in order to obtain the proper grade.

At one point on the trip the snow caps of San Jacinto, San Geronimo, Mt. Whitney, and Charleston peak of Nevada, were visible at the same time. Whitney was 200 miles away. —Calexico Chronicle.

R. P. DAVIE, WELL KNOWN HERE, IS CALLED BY DEATH

Robert P. Davie, 68 years of age, pioneer southwestern land and irrigation developer, and former winter resident of Palm Springs, died Thursday at his home at 182 Canyon View Drive, Brentwood Heights, Santa Monica. He had been in ill health more than a year.

Funeral service will be held at 10 a. m. today, at the Todd & Leslie chapel, Santa Monica.

Mr. Davie came to Palm Springs some years ago. He told Robert L. Edwards at that time that he believed better grapefruit could be grown in the Coachella Valley than in any other location. He acquired vast acreage in the valley and developed some of the finest grapefruit orchards in this area, having experience in growing grapefruit in Arizona, near Phoenix.

Arriving at Santa Monica in 1922, Mr. Davie immediately became associated with the development of the city and at his death was the holder of large downtown property interests.

Mr. Davie was one of the first cotton growers in the Salt River Valley of Arizona and is credited with the development of the cotton and alfalfa industries in that state. In 1921 he sold to the Goodrich Tire and Rubber Company for a consideration in excess of $1,000,000 a 10,000-acre ranch near Marinette, Ariz., which he had developed for alfalfa and cotton production.

This ranch, now a part of the Good-year company's Litchfield property, is one of the outstanding long-staple cotton ranches in the Southwest. After going to Arizona in the early 1900's, Mr. Davie became associated with the development of projects along the Southern Pacific right of way in the Salt River Valley.

Born at Flushing, Mich., he early in life went to Cripple Creek, Colo., where he engaged in the mining and real estate business. He later became president of the Rifle Livestock and Investment Company, with sheep interests in Colorado.

At one time he was president of the Western Beet Sugar Company at Grand Junction, Colo. He also held extensive land and property interests in Colorado Springs.

Following the trend of the land, Mr. Davie went from Colorado to Kansas and is credited with founding the now thriving community of Garden City. In 1908 he went to Florida where he subdivided 30,000 acres of Everglades land and established the town of Davie, Fla. From Florida he engaged in his Arizona venture.

Mr. Davie leaves his widow, Mrs. Martha Davie; two daughters, Mrs. Marjorie Davie Brown of Los Angeles and Mrs. Martha Reed of Santa Monica; and one son, Robert P. Davie, Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Frankenburg entertained a group of friends last Monday night at a surprise dinner party in honor of the birthday of Mrs. Paul Schwenzfeier, Jr. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Schwenzfeier, Mrs. Schwenzfeier, Sr., who is visiting here for a week or so, Mrs. Lillian Wisniewski, mother of Mrs. Schwenzfeier, Jr., Miss Lillian Kilgannon, Robert Webb, De Witt Gorman and Bob West.

Mrs. Dorothy Wells, former wife of Max Baer, is among those enjoying Palm Springs days. While here Mrs. Wells is a guest of the Palm Springs Hotel.
